House Passes $1.2 Trillion Spending Bill

The House of Representatives voted today to pass a $1.2 trillion spending bill, averting a government shutdown.

The spending package, which consists of six spending bills rolled together, will fund roughly three-quarters of the federal government — including the legislative branch and the departments of Defense, Homeland Security, Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and State — for the next six months.

The bill is now in the hands of the U.S. Senate, which is expected to pass it but could miss the midnight deadline to avoid a partial shutdown. Senators Rand Paul (R-Ky.), Mike Lee (R-Utah), and Bill Hagerty (R-Tenn.) say they plan to offer amendments, which could slow the Senate's consideration of the bill.
