

Juror Dismissed in Trump Trial

New York Supreme Court Justice Juan Merchan excused a juror in former President Donald Trump's New York "hush money" trial today. The juror stated she felt she was unable to remain unbiased, stating, "I don't believe at this point that I can be fair and unbiased and let the outside influences not affect my decision making in the courtroom," after friends, family, and co-workers contacted her asking if she was seated on the jury, indicating her identity had been made public.

According to The Associated Press, after excusing the juror Merchan stated, "We just lost what probably would have been a very good juror," and ordered journalists covering the trial to not report "prospective jurors' answers to questions about their current and former employers."

A juror who was earlier excused told MSNBC her impression of Trump when she saw him: "He looked less orange, definitely, like more yellowish ... he doesn't look angry, or, I think he looks bored, like he wants this to finish and go do his stuff."

AP Images

Subscribe to the New American

Get exclusive digital access to the most informative, non-partisan truthful news source for patriotic Americans!

Discover a refreshing blend of time-honored values, principles and insightful perspectives within the pages of "The New American" magazine. Delve into a world where tradition is the foundation, and exploration knows no bounds.

From politics and finance to foreign affairs, environment, culture, and technology, we bring you an unparalleled array of topics that matter most.

Subscribe

What's Included?

- 24 Issues Per Year
- Optional Print Edition
- Digital Edition Access
- Exclusive Subscriber Content
- Audio provided for all articles
- Unlimited access to past issues
- Coming Soon! Ad FREE
- 60-Day money back guarantee!
- Cancel anytime.