

Transgenderism Is Demonic Possession

What is really behind the transgenderism movement?

The trans question has become one of the most hotly contested issues in the culture war. While young people continue to proclaim their “gender-fluid” and “non-binary” statuses in increasing numbers, a fervent opposition to this trend has gained steam among the Right.

Driven by the clear pedophilic grooming of trans “family” strip shows, the constant pro-LGBT propaganda in the media and schools, and recent high-profile acts of violence committed by trans against non-trans, the counter-trans movement has taken hold among a sizeable segment of America and has virtually become completely mainstream among GOP voters and lawmakers.

Much of the trans debate centers around significant questions: Mental health, parental rights, the safety of children and families.

But one aspect of the trans question is rarely discussed, and it is the most important factor — the one which explains and underlies the entire issue: the spiritual side.

Why are the globalist oligarchs, of which the contemporary political Left is a segment, so hell-bent on making you, me, and all our children trans?

Of course, there are many answers to this question. They have several purposes that are served by getting us to fall into gender-bending delusion and mutilating our genitalia while getting hopped up on hormonal drugs.

First there’s the monetary motivation. There’s more money to be made with sick people than with healthy people. And gender dysphoria is a mental illness. By convincing people that they’re the wrong gender trapped in the wrong body, the establishment generates lots of opportunities to make money off of them — psychologists, therapists, and, of course, expensive sex-change procedures.

Then there’s the power motivation. Infirm, weak, mentally ill people are easier to control because they’re unwilling or unlikely to fight back. This especially applies to the men in a society. The globalist oligarchs are more than happy to see an entire generation of men turned into docile “shemales.”

And remember, the “powers that be” have an overarching goal of destroying Christianity. By grooming people into transgenderism and the LGBT lifestyle, which are in direct contradiction to Christian moral law, the Left pulls their “rainbow” converts away from Jesus’ teachings and even makes them hate Christianity, as the adherents of LGBT are told they are the victims of “bigoted” persecution by “ignorant” Christians.

This leads us to the deep, underlying purpose for which transgenderism's proponents really push it so vehemently, and why it plays such a major role in their plan to eradicate Christianity and the American nation.

To accurately answer the question of why they push the trans agenda, we must fully understand what transgenderism really is:

Transgenderism is nothing short of demonic possession.

Demonic spirits want to possess human beings; they do not have a physical body and desire to experience the higher state of having one, with all the experiences and satisfaction it brings. So miserable is the lack of a physical body for them that they would rather inhabit the bodies of animals than have no bodies at all, as in the case of the "Legion" of spirits in the New Testament, who pleaded with Jesus to at least put them into a herd of swine after casting them out of a man.

Transgenderism is a vehicle that allows demons to enter and take over the bodies of humans.

There are male and female demonic spirits, and they can possess persons regardless of the individual's sex. The influence of female spirits in men causes them to want to identify as women. The reverse is true for women.

The "non-binary" "they/them" phenomenon is the presence of many demonic spirits in an individual. Again, just as the "Legion" whom Jesus cast out referred to themselves with plural pronouns because "we are many," likewise, the plurality of spirits within a trans person explains the modern "they/them" pronoun usage.

And why is the use of pronouns so important to trans? Why do they not only change their own pronouns, but insist with ferocity that we use their desired pronouns to the point of seemingly wanting to commit violence against those who refuse to go along with the delusion?

What you must understand is that the use of pronouns is not a simple word game, but is a form of occult, demonic invocation.

As I previously explained, in occultism, belief and the power of the mind are what really cause changes in reality; all the ritual, ceremony, artifacts, and flowery language typically associated with occultism are not in and of themselves the sources of power, but are merely tools that focus the mind and strengthen belief. Then the mind exerts the desired effect on external reality.

Affirmations, along with visualization, have long been an important practice in occultism, allowing the practitioner to restructure beliefs with the intention of changing reality. In the 20th Century, practices such as affirmation and visualization went mainstream among the self-help and self-improvement communities, and their original occult origin has been largely forgotten.

The repeated use of transgender pronouns is an exercise in occult affirmation for the purpose of invoking the demonic spirits that want to possess the individual's body.

By repeatedly affirming the spirits' presence in the person through the use of the pronouns, the possession becomes a reality and the spirits' influence over the person grows. They get stronger as more people affirm the possession by using the pronouns.

This is why it's so important for the trans movement that we use their "preferred pronouns." By refusing to play along, we deprive the demonic spirits of power over the host body.

The solution, for those who want to combat this evil, is simple. It's the same solution that should be used to fight abortion, sodomy, and other ills that have become mainstream:

Simply refuse to give in, to cooperate. The Right must forget about “tolerance” and make it clear that as individuals and as a society, we will no longer be participants to the trans madness.
