Quick Quotes

Former South Carolina Governor Announces Her Candidacy for the White House

Nikki Haley (wikipedia/Sam Holland)

“You should know this about me: I don’t put up with bullies. And when you kick back, it hurts them more if you’re wearing high heels.”

During her second term as governor of South Carolina, Nikki Haley accepted appointment as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, a post she has since left. Pundits claim that she must win the early primary in her home state of South Carolina to be considered as a viable candidate to be the GOP’s presidential nominee in 2024.

Importance of Musk’s Takeover of Twitter Needs Widespread Dissemination

“Put simply, the Twitter Files reveal an unholy alliance between Big Tech and the deep state designed to throttle free speech and maintain an official narrative through censorship and propaganda.”

A senior editor at The Federalist, John Daniel Davidson has summarized the work of journalists Matt Taibbi, Bari Weiss, and others who, after Musk’s takeover of Twitter, were given access to the “Twitter Files,” where they’ve found proof of the suppression of information about the Hunter Biden laptop, Twitter’s silencing of dissent from the official Covid narrative, the FBI’s involvement in suppressing information about the 2020 election, and much more.

Former Fed Leader Cautions Against Any Government Failure to Pay Debts

Janet Yellen (U.S. Department of the Treasury)

“Failure on the part of the United States to meet any obligation, whether it’s to debt holders, members of our military, or Social Security recipients, is effectively a default.”

Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen previously led the Federal Reserve. She supports raising the national debt limit, now set at $31.4 trillion.

Russian Men Flee Their Homeland Rather Than Serve in Putin’s War Against Ukraine

“In a situation where everyone is against you, including your own relatives who think you are a traitor and are ready to hang you on the nearest post, I was extremely pleased to discover that there are people who don’t know you at all, who’ve never seen you, and they are ready to help you.”

Thirty-one-year-old Oleg Zavyalov fled from Russia to avoid being forced into the military. Germany, Poland, and Lithuania have been issuing humanitarian visas to many Russian men who have already fled their homeland.

President Biden Embraces NATO’s Principle of Collective Security

“We’ve reaffirmed that our Article 5 commitment is sacred. And an attack on one is an attack on all, and we will defend every inch of NATO territory.”

President Joe Biden made this comment following last June’s NATO summit in Madrid. There are now 30 countries in the military alliance. By claiming that the commitment to NATO’s Article 5 is “sacred,” Biden is demonstrating his desire to have the United States go to war to defend any of the other 29 NATO countries that may be attacked. This principle of collective security undermines the U.S. Constitution, which grants to Congress — not the president, not NATO, and not NATO’s UN parent — the power to declare war.

Senator Introduces a Bill to Finish Construction of the Southwest Border Wall

Ted Budd (United States Senate)

“President Biden has created the worst border crisis in American history.”

Pointing to $2.1 billion in unspent money originally earmarked for border security, and to the problems created by growing numbers of illegal border crossers, Senator Ted Budd (R-N.C.) has introduced the “Build the Wall Now Act.”
