European Union Reacts to Cutback in U.S. Military Spending

“If Europe does not take care of its own security, nobody else will do it for us.”

The president of the European Commission, Jean-Claude Juncker expects President-elect Trump to cease having America be the policeman of the world.

Several Rights Activists in China Vanish

“I hope the government could at least tell us, his family, where he is and what crimes he has committed. At least we should know his whereabouts.”

Jiang Tianyong is one of three civil rights activists who disappeared while in China during November. His wife, Jin Bianling, pleaded from California for information about her husband.

Ohio State Terrorist Explains His Attack on Fellow Students

“I am sick and tired of seeing my fellow Muslim brothers and sisters being killed and tortured everywhere.... By Allah, I am willing to kill a billion infidels in retribution for a single disabled Muslim.”

Before he went on his rampage with his automobile and a butcher knife, Somali immigrant Abul Razak Artan logged on to Facebook and left the message noted above. He injured 11 people before being gunned down by a university police officer.

Europe’s Right Delighted With Trump Win

“The election of Donald Trump is a triumph of the American people, a victory of ordinary people over the political establishment. It’s a victory over the politically correct globalist elites who show little interest in the well-being of the people.”

At a campaign rally in Pima, Germany, Frauke Petry, the leader of Germany’s Alternative for Germany party, issued her assessment of the Trump victory. Her political party stands firmly opposed to the European Union.

France’s Leading Opponent of the EU Cheered by Trump Victory

“Donald Trump has made possible what was presented as completely impossible. So it’s a sign of hope for those who cannot bear wild globalization, who cannot bear the political life led by the elites.”

Marine Le Pen, the leader of France’s right-wing National Front, and her political party are expected to do well in the spring 2017 election.

Trump Finds Cost of Air Force One Too High, Cancels the Order

“It’s going to be over $4 billion for Air Force One program, and I think it’s ridiculous. I think Boeing is doing a little bit of a number. We want Boeing to make a lot of money, but not that much money.”
