Top Headline - If You See Something, Say Something App

Live in Salt Lake City and need to report your neighbors for something that you don't agree with? There's an app for that! Recently released by the police department, you can now upload photos directly to them, whether you want to report a crime, keep a database of your belongings, or turn someone in who does something that you disapprove of.

Joe Wolverton, author of the article "Utah Police Offer Smartphone App That Takes Photos and Sends Them to Police," joins Top Headline to discuss the topic.
