School Ignores Parents, Gives 11-year Olds “LGBT” Work

From FreedomProject Media:

Students as young as 11-years old in a suburb of Atlanta were forced to complete “homework” and a “quiz” dealing with “sexual orientation” and “gender identity” — even after their parents tried to “opt out.” According to news reports, outraged parents apparently did not realize what government schools were “teaching” these days.

The controversial homework assignment, handed out in Georgia’s DeKalb County School District, included questions about the proper terminology used to refer to men who are attracted to men (“gay”), women who are attracted to women (“lesbian”), and people who are attracted to both men and women (“bisexual”).

Students were also expected to know that “queer” is a “broad term that can include gay, lesbian, and bisexual people, as well as others who don’t identify as straight.” Meanwhile, a “person who identifies as a woman” is apparently supposed to be referred to as a “female” (even if this person is a male) and “a person who identifies as a man” is supposedly a “male,” even if this person has female chromosomes.

Apparently, to the gender theorists, homosexual attractions are inborn and immutable, while biological chromosomes can be overridden based on how a person chooses to “identify.”
