Medical Freedom Activists Plan International COVID-19 Vaccine Protests

On July 23, 2020, environmental lawyer Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. debated Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz about the coronavirus vaccine, vaccines in general, and making the vaccine mandatory. Kennedy said during the debate:

It's not hypothetical that vaccines cause injury and that injuries are not rare. The vaccine courts have paid out four billion dollars over the past three decades. And the threshold for getting back into a vaccine court and getting a judgment — [the Department of Health and Human Services] admits that fewer than one percent of people who are injured ever even get to court.

When talking about the companies producing the vaccines, Kennedy said that each of the four vaccine producers:

Is a convicted serial felon: Glaxo, Sanofi, Pfizer, Merck. In the past ten years, just in the last decade, those companies have paid 35 billion dollars in criminal penalties, damages, fines, for lying to doctors, for defrauding science, for falsifying science, for killing hundreds of thousands of Americans knowingly.

It requires a cognitive dissonance for people who understand the criminal corporate cultures of these four companies to believe that they're doing this in every other product that they have, but they're not doing it with vaccines.

Compared to vaccines' health risks, the already-questionable health benefits are even more uncertain with the rushed coronavirus vaccine. Because of that, the U.S. government created the Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness Act. This act protects:

individuals and entities (Covered Persons) against any claim of loss caused by, arising out of, relating to, or resulting from the manufacture, distribution, administration, or use of medical countermeasures (Covered Countermeasures), except for claims involving "willful misconduct" as defined in the PREP Act.

This leaves the injured party with only one recourse, applying to the Countermeasures Injury Compensation Program \(CICP\). This program, according to NBC, has only paid out about three dozen claims in the last decade. Wayne Rohde, author of the book The Vaccine Court, explains how the CICP works:

In short, if you are injured or have someone killed by one of the new experimental COVID vaccines, expect to pay all of your expenses out-of-pocket because your life is not worth much to the US Government. They are asking the public to sacrifice themselves for “the greater good” to stop a virus that there is not even an accurate test that can identify it.

To inform as many Americans as possible of the coronavirus vaccine’s potential problems, several medical freedom activists have teamed up with the grassroots organization V is for Vaccine to lead demonstrations in locations across Canada, Australia, the U.K., and all 50 United States. They chose to do the rallies on November 29 because it is the second-busiest travel day across the country.

Founded in 2019 by Joshua Coleman and Olivia Mikos, V is for Vaccine’s goal is To bypass the mainstream and social media censorship and educate the public on important truths about the vaccine program, truths that everyone has the right to know before making the decision to vaccinate.

The V is for Vaccine formula consists of giant signs, irrefutable facts, simple and uniform messaging, eager activists, and a good dose of flair. From their first demonstration at Disneyland with only 14 people, the campaign has expanded to all 50 states and three countries.

In these strictly peaceful rallies (unlike BLM, they don’t take detours to Walmart, Target, or other stores), marchers are encouraged to have a dialog with police and others to inform the public about these vaccines’ dangers.

The New American contacted V is for Vaccine with a few questions about the event, and co-founder Olivia Mikos responded:

TNA: How many cities are hosting demonstrations?

Olivia: All 50 states, the U.K., Canada, and Australia are involved. Some states are only doing one city, while others are demonstrating in multiple.

TNA: Are there local chapters or networks of activists?

Olivia: V is for Vaccine does not have local chapters. But our template is designed so that any activist, group, or organization can utilize our format and messaging and organize demonstrations on their own. We also organize events in collaboration with other independent health freedom groups from all over. For downloads and tutorials, people can go to visforvaccine.com.

TNA: Is this event simply to alert people about the dangers of vaccines, or will there be elements of protesting the lock-downs as well?

Olivia: This event is primarily focused on vaccine risks.

TNA: What are your goals for the march?

Olivia: This event raises awareness regarding little known risks and facts of vaccination and empowers people to make an informed decision.

TNA: Are you actively seeking to work with other groups, or is this a solo effort?

Olivia: We work with any and all medical freedom groups but provide a uniform template and messaging for everyone to utilize. The goal is to break through the social conditioning with easy to understand and irrefutable facts. Our strategy relies on keeping the messaging simple, bold, uniform, and factual. Anyone wanting to utilize this template can get involved.
