Leftists: D-Day GIs Were Antifa

The radical Left beclowned itself this weekend with the claim that the Antifa goons who are looting and burning American cities and attacking cops are doing the same job as the American boys who landed at Normandy.

The 76th anniversary of the Allied landings on June 6, 1944 to open the final campaign in the liberation of Europe occasioned the absurd equation that came from at least four people who should know better.

Not surprisingly, one is a top advisor to socialist Bernie Sanders, whose presidential campaign staffers promised to burn cities and murder cops if he lost nomination, and then promised gulags and firing squads if he landed in the White House.

But more frightening and somewhat surprising is the idea that masked looters and criminals, who attack the innocent with little fear of resistance or being shot and who destroy and loot businesses, are comparable to highly trained fighting men who landed on a beach and faced artillery and enfilading machine gun fire to free countries from Hitler's murderous dictatorship.

Foreign Policy Advisor

One of the commentators was Matt Duss, Sanders' senior foreign policy advisor. Duss tweeted that "June 6, 1944 [was the] Largest ANTIFA operation in history," a remark that invited this rejoinder: "You are either insane or incredibly stupid. No other explanation."

Another of the bright lights who think Antifa is comparable to the boys of the 29th Infantry Division who landed on Omaha Beach is Mara Liasson, a reporter for National Public Radio and contributor to Fox News.

Responding to an animated map that depicted Allied forces on the coast of France, Liasson offered this one: "Biggest antifa rally in history."

Replied Florida state Representative Anthony Sabbatini, "FYI if you are unaware of how FAR LEFT FRINGE @NPR has become, look no further" than Liasson's tweet. "One of their top journalists just equated the American troops who landed in France on D-Day with the subhuman violent leftist freaks known as 'Antifa.'"

Paul Farhi, media writer for the Washington Post, hastened to suggest likewise: "Friend points out on D-Day anniversary that the men who stormed the beaches of Normandy were the true and original antifa."

That, in turn, invited this observations from a reporter for the Daily Mail about the fact that the original Antifa was pro-communist, meaning pro-dictatorship, and the reporter's noting that the flags of the groups are the same:

The original Antifa, BTW, were the German communist Antifaschistische Aktion party. Here's their 1932 conference. Look at the flag. Now look at the modern Antifa flag on their handbook.

Not Unexpected

The remarks are hardly surprising given just how unhinged Sanders' staff members are, or how openly leftist the media have become, largely thanks to their Trump Derangement.

Sanders did not fire staff members who promised mayhem and murder whether Sanders won or lost.

"I'm ready to start tearing bricks up and start fighting," one said. "I'll straight up get armed, I want to learn how to shoot, and go train. I'm ready for the fing revolution, bro.... I'm telling you. Guillotine the rich."

Said another, "If Bernie doesn't get the nomination ... fing Milwaukee will burn. It'll start in Milwaukee," he said. "We're gonna make 1978 [68] look like a fing Girl Scouts' fing cookout."

Remember what happened when McGovern got fed in Chicago in 1978[68]? Riots. Fing people getting beaten by the cops. The cops are gonna be the ones getting fing beaten in Milwaukee. They're gonna call up the National Guard for that st. I promise you that.

The rhetoric did not, apparently, surprise or displease the elderly socialist, who has repeatedly praised communist mass murderer Fidel Castro and the Chinese Reds.

Andy Ngo, Marines

Sanders and his staff members aside, it's safe to say that none of the men who landed at Normandy were sued for an unprovoked attack on or terrorizing a journalist.

Nor did any Normandy vets attack U.S. Marines, as did three Antifa thugs in 2018, one of whom led a double life as a top progressive activist in Washington, D.C.

When the Bedford Boys waded ashore in Europe, they weren't there to kill cops, terrorize motorists, or destroy small businesses, and neither did anyone call what they did "domestic terror."

The men who landed at Normandy were fighting this nation's enemies in a declared war. Antifa is this nation's enemy and has declared war on its people.
