Biden Appoints Another Sex Deviant to Top Post; DOE Pick Involved in Bondage, “Pup Play”

President Joe Biden has finally reached a crescendo in promoting sexual deviants to high government positions.

The new deputy assistant secretary of energy in charge of nuclear waste, Sam Brinton, is a drag queen involved in something called “pup play,” a sexual fetish that involves treating other men like dogs.

Biden has been firmly committed to putting as many sex deviants into power as possible. Pete Buttigieg, the transportation secretary, thinks he is married to a man. Richard Levine, who calls himself Rachel and pretends he is a woman, is the assistant secretary of health and human services.

Grooming Kids

Brinton holds a masters degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but his main claim to fame is grooming kids and “pup play.”

“My husband sometimes describes me as a weird kind of Batman, he said last year. “Why, you might ask? Because by day I work to save lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning (LGBTQ) youth from suicide, and by night I work to save the world from nuclear waste related environmental disaster.”

Saving them from suicide, of course, means convincing them to accept their “feelings” and become sexual deviants. That just happens to have the side benefit of providing more homosexuals and “transgenders” for guys like Brinton to exploit.

Brinton’s sex talk at Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute divulges just the kind of freak show Biden is running.

“On the subject of kinks directly, Brinton explained the difference between headspace and physical types of play,” the student newspaper reported:

Headspace involves the use of a mental state, and includes kinks like adult babies and diaper lovers, primal play, humiliation, degradation, and pup play. Physical play, on the other hand, involves the use of toys and objects to set the scene. This includes the more widely known kinks, including bondage, impact play, flogging, and temperature play.

Brinton explained the “kinks” he likes, and “how he enjoys tying up his significant other like a table, and eating his dinner on him while he watches Star Trek.... Once he started having sex, he got bored with the idea that he couldn’t control the whole experience, which led him to the idea of domination. He also expanded on his experiences with pup play, the differences between kinks and fetishes, and how to safely choke one’s partner.”

The details only worsened after that dive into depravity.

In 2016, Brinton appeared in Metro Weekly, a newspaper for homosexuals in Washington, D.C. That one covered the poor, misguided souls involved in “pup play.” The newspaper described it from the perspective of one twisted participant. He gets into “pup headspace, a level of consciousness where his actions and behaviors mimic those of a biological dog, whether he’s crawling on the floor, wagging the 13-inch-long silicone tail attached to his belt, or playing an impromptu game of tug of war with his favorite stuffed toy, ‘Moose on a Noose.’”

As for Biden’s new nuclear waste expert, he tries to “mentally distance his sexual activity from the pup scene,” the newspaper reported:

“I actually have trouble when we transition from pup play to having sex,” Sam explains. “Like, ‘No, I can’t have you whimper like that when we’re having sex,’ because I don’t want to mix that world. It’s interesting, because he doesn’t have to come out of pup mode to have me f*k him. I personally have to bring him out of pup perception for me. But then I’m still treating him as a submissive to me.”

Deviant Trifecta

Biden turned the government over to sex perverts and the mentally ill even before Day One of his rule.

He picked a transvestite to run the review of the Defense Department during the transition. Then he appointed Buttigieg to run the nation’s highways. Buttigieg and his “husband” somehow got hold of two infants and are pretending to be fathers.

Levine, another Biden appointee who thinks he is a woman, wants to chemically castrate teenage boys so they don’t “go through the wrong puberty.” He is the country’s No. 2 federal health official.

Biden is also permitting men like Levine and Brinton to join the military.

“America is safer,” Biden tweeted, “when everyone qualified to serve can do so openly and with pride.”

Today, I repealed the discriminatory ban on transgender people serving in the military. It’s simple: America is safer when everyone qualified to serve can do so openly and with pride.
