

Biden Confuses Black History Events, Whispers in Bizarre Voice. How Far Gone Is He?

President Biden's declining cognitive ability and bizarre behavior turned for the worse Thursday.

He confused two major historical events involving blacks, called Hispanics "Latinx," a leftist word that Hispanics hate, and answered a question from the pro-Biden media in a bizarre whisper.

On Wednesday, he uttered a bizarre comment on the Second Amendment. To take on the government in battle, he said, a militia would need fighter jets and atomic weapons.

Whisperin' Joe

The latest lapse into what appears to be a severely demented state came in answer to reporter's question about businesses that can't find workers.

"Pay them more," he whispered. "I got them $1.9 trillion in relief support," he added.

Answering another question, he whispered, "I wrote the bill on the environment. Why would I not be for it?"

Biden also turned goggle-eyed and contorted his face. He looked like a patient at Bedlam.

Twitter hilarity ensued.

"What did I just watch," laughed Kayleigh McEnany.

Another likened the bizarre performance to the frightening scene in the Amityville Horror, when Father Delaney is trapped in a room in the haunted house, swarmed by flies and told, in a whisper from the Stygian depths, "get out."

Many tweets suggested that Biden is losing his mind, a suspicion among even Democrats who hated his predecessor. Polling last June suggested many Americans believed Biden was losing it.

Tuskegee Airmen, Tuskegee Experiment. What's the Diff!?

Later on, perhaps because he was sundowning, a terrible symptom of dementia, he confused the storied black fighter pilots of World War II, the Tuskegee Airmen, with the Tuskegee Experiment that involved a study of black men with syphilis.

Speaking about China Virus, Biden uttered these words:

There's a reason why it's been harder to get African Americans, initially, to get vaccinated: because they're used to be experimented on — the Tuskegee Airmen and others. People have memories. People have long memories.

It's awful hard, as well, to get Latinx vaccinated as well. Why? They're worried that they'll be vaccinated and deported.

Twitter users had a big belly laugh that Biden thought the Tuskegee airmen were the subject of the syphilis study. "Tuskegee Airmen," one wrote. "I predicted Biden would be mentally incapacitated by June. There are still a few days left..."

Robbie Starbuck, a Cuban, hastened to observe that Hispanics do not like to be called Latinx.

"No one uses that stupid term," another wrote.

Second Amendment Foul-Up

The day before, Biden delivered a jaw-dropping version of history and the Second Amendment.

"The Second Amendment, from the day it was passed, limited the type of people who could own a gun and what type of weapon you could own," Biden falsely said. "You couldn't buy a cannon."

Then came the gibberish:

Those who say the blood of lib- — "the blood of patriots," you know, and all the stuff about how we're going to have to move against the government. Well, the tree of liberty is not watered with the blood of patriots. What's happened is that there have never been — if you wanted or if you think you need to have weapons to take on the government, you need F-15s and maybe some nuclear weapons.

The point is that there has always been the ability to limit — rationally limit the type of weapon that can be owned and who can own it.

In fact, the Second Amendment limits government, not gun owners. And Twitter users wondered why, if "you need F-15s and maybe some nuclear weapons" to stage a coup, Biden and his leftist supporters were so worried about the events of January 6 at the U.S. Capitol. How would mostly peaceful protesters with a few cans of bear spray take down the government?

Tweeted Robert Gagnon:

Yesterday Biden said: "If you think you need to have weapons to take on the government, you need F15s & maybe some nuclear weapons." Yet in his SOTU address he called the Capitol Hill riot on Jan. 6 "the worst attack on our democracy since the Civil War."

“If you can’t topple the government with just guns, because they have F15s — as is Biden’s argument,” another Tweet argued, “then how did some unarmed protestors at the Capitol almost overthrow the government — as is Biden’s argument?”

The bizarre behavior and remarks invited speculation that Biden might be removed from office with the 25th Amendment. Section four lays out the procedure for removing the president if he becomes ill and cannot perform the duties of his office.

If Biden is sundowning, as many suspect, it won’t be long before he’s removed. Kamala Harris would become president.
