Biden Pushes Debunked Russia Conspiracy Theory on Son's Laptop, Again Says Son Did Nothing Wrong

In a major interview yesterday, Democrat presidential candidate Joe Biden continued to spread the debunked conspiracy theory that the Hunter Biden laptop scandal is part of a “Russian disinformation” scheme to derail his third and final run for the White House.

Speaking to 60 Minutes' Norah O'Donnell last night, Biden offered no evidence for the claim, and O'Donnell didn't challenge him.

Last week, Director of National Intelligence John Ratcliffe firmly stated his agencies have no evidence to support the ridiculous conspiracy theory, which plays into the idea that President Trump is a Russian stooge who “colluded” with the country to defeat Hillary Clinton in 2016.

On Saturday, Biden also shut down a reporter in Scranton, Pennsylvania, who asked about the laptop, which contained e-mails connecting the former president to Hunter Biden's business deals in Ukraine and China.

With just nine days until the election, the candidate hopes to shut down discussion of the scandals, which point to ill-gotten gains through influence-peddling.

Russian “Disinformation”

O'Donnell didn't examine the topic in detail, of course, and tossed Biden a belt-high slow ball. Indeed, her question wasn't so much a question as a leading statement with which Biden would obviously agree:

“Do you believe the recent leak of material allegedly from Hunter's computer is part of a Russian disinformation campaign?” she asked.

Replied Biden:

From what I've read and know the intelligence community warned the president that Giuliani was being fed disinformation from the Russians. And we also know that Putin is trying very hard to spread disinformation about Joe Biden. And so when you put the combination of Russia, Giuliani — the president, together — it's just what it is. It's a smear campaign because he has nothing he wants to talk about. What is he running on? What is he running on?

But O'Donnell didn't push Biden further, or ask him about the statement from DNI Ratcliffe.

As Ratcliffe told Fox News's Maria Bartiromo last week, the principal individual pushing the debunked conspiracy idea is hate-Trump leftist Representative Adam Schiff. Schiff, chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, staged a bogus impeachment of Trump with false charges of "collusion" and soliciting "foreign interference" in the 2020 election.

"Let me be clear," Ratcliffe said of claims the Hunter Biden laptop and e-mails are Russian disinformation.

"The intelligence community doesn't believe that because there is no intelligence that supports that. And we have shared no intelligence with Chairman Schiff, or any member of Congress, that Hunter Biden's laptop is part of some Russian disinformation campaign.

"It's simply not true."

The FBI has not disputed Ratcliffe's statement.

Big Brush Off

On Saturday, Biden brushed off a reporter's question about it in Pennsylvania.

When Andy Mehalshick of WYOU in Scranton asked him about it, Biden offered his pat response. Nothing to see here, Biden said, move along.

"Mr. Biden, if I can, questions and controversy continue today about Hunter Biden, your son."

Answered the former vice president:

There is no controversy about my son. That's all a lie. It's a flat lie because the president has nothing to run on. If you notice, while the American people are talking about what's happening to their families, he has no plan. In the debate, he has no plan. Everything from the Wall Street Journal, every other major news outlet has said what he's saying is simply not true about my son. It's classic Trump, classic Trump.

Biden has not denied the laptop belonged to Hunter Biden or that the e-mails are genuine.

The Laptop, the E-mails

The trouble began for Biden senior when the New York Post published e-mails that showed he lied when he said he knew nothing of son Hunter's fantastically lucrative, overseas business ventures.
