

Biden's Daughter's Diary Includes More Evidence Joe Is a Child Sex Abuser

"I remember having sex with friends @ a young age; showers w/ my dad (probably not appropriate)." So wrote Joe Biden's youngest daughter, Ashley, in her diary in a January 2019 entry, outlining how she believes she was sexualized during her tender years. The explosive remark, published Thursday by British paper Daily Mail, explains why the FBI raided two journalists' homes shock-and-awe style in an effort to recover the diary — even though such a task isn't the bureau's legitimate domain and despite Ashley's representatives' refusal to acknowledge the book was hers.

The information also aligns with behavior Joe Biden has exhibited — inappropriately touching young girls on camera — and charges leveled against him, which include an allegation of penetrative sexual assault.

Ashley's diary saga closely mirrors that involving the laptop formerly belonging to her brother, Hunter. Drug-addled, Hunter forgot he'd left the laptop in a Delaware computer repair shop. Also having been drug-addled, Ashley left her diary in a Palm Beach, Florida, "halfway house." In both cases, there were false allegations the objects were stolen. In both cases, The New York Times ultimately (and belatedly) confirmed the objects' authenticity.

And the diary and laptop both contain damning information that, in the wrong hands, could set the Bidens up for blackmail and hence imperil our national security.

After Ashley left the Florida home, a woman named Aimee Harris moved in and found the diary. Harris is now under FBI investigation. The Daily Mail summarizes other pertinent story details, writing:

- Previous reports claimed the Bidens reported it stolen in an alleged burglary, but DailyMail.com has learned Harris is not being investigated for theft
- 'It's her selling of the property that could be considered a crime. And the fact Ashley is the president's daughter kicks it to a different legal level,' a well-placed source said
- Harris, 39, moved into a Palm Beach home and found the diary under the mattress shortly after Ashley moved back to Philadelphia in 2020
- She is said to have later passed the private journal around at a Republican fundraiser before selling it for $40,000 to right wing organization Project Veritas
- The diary contained shocking and sensitive information, such as details about her chronic drug abuse, sex addiction, and being 'hyper-sexualized' in her youth

"In an entry on January 30, Ashley wrote about her sex addiction the day before her Alcoholics Anonymous meeting," the Mail also informs. "I have always been boy crazy,' she wrote. 'Hyper-sexualized @ a young age ... I remember somewhat being sexualized with [a family member]; I remember having sex with friends @ a young age; showers w/ my dad (probably not appropriate).”

Project Veritas founder James O’Keefe said that despite having obtained the diary before the 2020 election, his organization ultimately decided not to publish its contents because they couldn’t authenticate the book (once again, the Times later did). O’Keefe stated that he subsequently offered to return the diary, but Ashley’s representatives wouldn’t confirm it was hers. He then said he offered it to law enforcement.

Despite this, the FBI sought to recover the diary by raiding the homes of O’Keefe and another Project Veritas figure, menacingly (in the latter case shouting, “Let me see your hands! Let me see your hands!”), as if the journalists were terrorists.

Reporter Josh Boswell, who co-authored the Mail story, stated on a Tucker Carlson Tonight interview Friday evening that his paper decided to publish the diary excerpts it did because keeping such information secret could make Joe Biden vulnerable to blackmail. Of course, that the material is “juicy” and eyebrow-raising is likely another motivation. Nonetheless, not only is Boswell correct, but it isn’t only foreign adversaries that could use the damning revelations for leverage, but, possibly, American intelligence agencies as well.

Note here that famed longtime FBI director J. Edgar Hoover was said to have files containing dirt on most Washington politicians and allegedly used them for leverage. (The blackmail allegations are unconfirmed and could just be part of the effort to tarnish Hoover’s reputation.)

As for the Bidens’ reputations, they’re still far better than warranted. As commentator Andrea Widburg reminds us, it seems “that Joe Biden isn’t the only man in the family who is hanging around inappropriately with kids. In a series of text messages that Hunter Biden sent when Hallie Biden (his girlfriend and the widow of his dead brother) threw away the gun that he’d illegal[ly] obtained, we get an insight into her concerns about Biden’s second son.”

To wit: “Hunter lamented that Hallie ... had given the impression he’s ‘an abusive pedophile with homicidal tendencies’ and said that ‘that’s now in the hands of the FBI,’” reported the Washington Examiner Wednesday. “He said police and the bureau opened an investigation into him over the incident. The Secret Service also inserted itself into the saga, according to other texts from Hunter, although the agency has denied involvement.”

“Considering that the issue was about drugs and a gun, you have to wonder where that ‘pedophile’ thing comes in,” Widburg then asks rhetorically. “Oh, wait, I know! There was the other material on Hunter’s hard drive that indicated that he had a thing about underage girls.”

So the apple doesn’t fall far from the tree. Speaking of which, below is a video illustrating inappropriate public behavior with girls by Joe Biden that would’ve, had we an honest media, long ago meant his political career’s felling.

One of the girls featured above, Maria Piacesi, eight at the time (2015), confirmed last year that Biden had actually pinched her nipple (video below), according to Gateway Pundit. She was afraid to press the issue, however.

Then there’s former Biden Senate assistant Tara Reade, who says that Biden forcibly digitally penetrated her in 1993.

As for the diary revelation, Fox News host Tucker Carlson found it deeply disturbing and stated that Biden should resign in an extremely powerful Friday monologue (below).

It has long been clear that Joe Biden, a failure as a father, is also unfit cognitively, ideologically, and morally to be president. Yet perhaps underappreciated is how vulnerable to blackmail he may be, with his family having taken tens of millions of dollars from Russian, Ukrainian, Kazakh, and Chinese sources — including $31 million from individuals “linked to the highest levels of Chinese intelligence.” Add to this other damning information on the family, as yet unknown to the public, that may be in hostile foreign hands, and we could wonder if Joe Biden is himself a national security threat.

The bottom line is that if you wouldn't trust your kids in his hands, should you trust their nation's future in them?
