

Written by Chris Bentley on December 30, 2009

Rachel Maddow, Black Helicopters, and the New World Order

Order

During her MSNBC program that aired on December 18, Rachel Maddow told her guest Thomas Frank that John Birch Society members are the “New World Order black helicopter folks.”

While most of Maddow’s accusations are based on statements taken out of context, in this particular instance she has it entirely backwards.

The New American magazine, the official news publication of the Society, debunked the black helicopters rumor and other falsehoods as far back as its October 31, 1994 issue:

As for the JBS being the “New World Order folks,” Maddow apparently has confused the Society’s

Written by Chris Bentley on December 30, 2009

members with the people who actually promote it.

The following video clips and images are just a small sampling of the mountains of documentation on this subject:

George H. W. Bush on the new world order:

Henry Kissinger on the new world order:

Bill Clinton on the new world order:

Gordon Brown on the new world order:

BBC NEWS Watch One-Minute World News

Last Updated: Friday, 19 January 2007, 10:24 GMT

E-mail this to a friend Printable version

Brown wants a 'new world order'

Chancellor Gordon Brown has spoken of the need for a "new world order" to deal with future security and environmental challenges.

He called for a "new diplomacy" to go alongside military power to defeat

Milwaukee Sentinel

TUESDAY MORNING / June 5, 1990

Gorbachev urges 'new world order'

Soviet president calls for US as partner to work toward goal

Full coverage: Gorbachev, not in hand, comes off as much of the main man. Baker heads to Copenhagen to take up with Shevardnadze a plea to allow the USSR to keep troops in East Germany. Russia Gorbachev said departing the fact that the Cold War is now behind us," Gorbachev said. "Cold war was not a struggle over who won it, who lost the Cold War. There was no one winner in the Cold War, just two as a nuclear war is not kind of talk about the Cold War being useful to some extent. I think it was genuine thinking and respectability." Gorbachev told the students, who interrupted his speech with applause and gave him a standing ovation at the conclusion of his remarks.

The Post-Register East Idaho Final

BAIT BISHOP'S HOME PAPER — 99 YEARS OF SERVICE

Idaho Falls, Idaho, Friday, Oct. 11, 1979

Fidel Castro demands 'new world order'

By JOHN BAKSHAN Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Fidel Castro today warned in the air and urged the dumping of nuclear arms, demanding a "new world order" and "peace" from the United States under the "agony" and "responsibility" imposed on the world.

But the bearded Cuban president, addressing the U.N. General Assembly for the first time since he spoke here as a guest at 17th Street, four blocks north of the U.N. entrance, said supporters of the Cuban revolution were involved in a war and "there will be no room for Cuba Street."

By 11 a.m., a half-hour before the speech was scheduled to start, a few thousands anti-Castro protesters had gathered in the park.

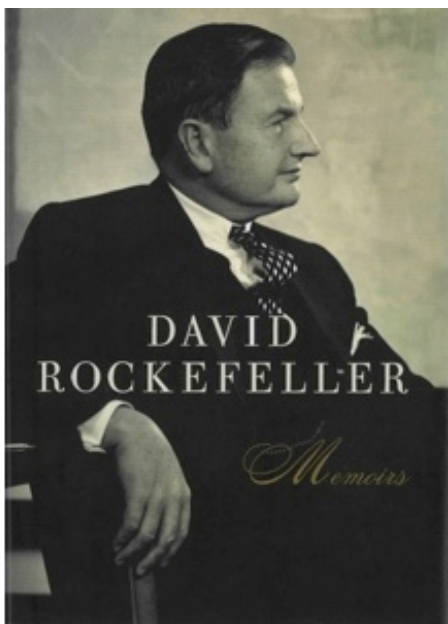

See also story on A-12.

Written by Chris Bentley on December 30, 2009

Of all the proponents of the New World Order, few if any have been as influential (and as capable of employing personal wealth and power in order to make it happen) as David Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, who is likely in his last few years of life, confessed in his 2002 autobiography Memoirs this lifelong goal: "For more than a century, ideological extremists at either end of the political spectrum have seized upon well-publicized incidents such as my encounter with Castro to attack the Rockefeller family for the inordinate influence they claim we wield over American political and economic institutions. Some even believe we are part of a secret cabal working against the best interests of the United States, characterizing my family and me as "internationalists" and of conspiring with others around the world to build a more integrated global political and economic structure — one world, if you will. If that is the charge, I stand guilty, and I am proud of it."

Unfortunately, the dream of a "one world" political and economic structure was a hard sell in the 20th century, given the atrocities that some of the most odious regimes in the world's history inflicted on the people they murdered with impunity.

But that never stopped David Rockefeller and his fellow elites from attempting to sell the concept with some of the most astounding statements one can find in print.

In an August 10, 1973 New York Times article, Rockefeller said the following about Chairman Mao and his "social experiment": "One is impressed immediately by the sense of national harmony.... Whatever the price of the Chinese Revolution, it has obviously succeeded ... in fostering high morale and community purpose. General social and economic progress is no less impressive.... The enormous social advances of China have benefited greatly from the singleness of ideology and purpose.... The social experiment in China under Chairman Mao's leadership is one of the most important and successful in history."

Written by Chris Bentley on December 30, 2009

The John Birch Society and its members are not the ones calling for the New World Order. The JBS didn't make the name up, either. That would be the responsibility of those who are pushing for it.

But don't expect to find a reasoned treatment of the subject matter on the Rachel Maddow show or any other major media outlet.

It's not politically correct.

This article originally appeared at JBS.org and is reprinted here with permission.

See related article:

Rachel Maddow Exposes Her Youth, Inexperience, and Political Correctness

Subscribe to the New American

Get exclusive digital access to the most informative, non-partisan truthful news source for patriotic Americans!

Discover a refreshing blend of time-honored values, principles and insightful perspectives within the pages of "The New American" magazine. Delve into a world where tradition is the foundation, and exploration knows no bounds.

From politics and finance to foreign affairs, environment, culture, and technology, we bring you an unparalleled array of topics that matter most.

What's Included?

- 24 Issues Per Year
- Optional Print Edition
- Digital Edition Access
- Exclusive Subscriber Content
- Audio provided for all articles
- Unlimited access to past issues
- Coming Soon! Ad FREE
- 60-Day money back guarantee!
- Cancel anytime.

Subscribe