Trump Ends Fed Gov't Involvement in Gender Mutilation of Kids

In what is arguably the second most important executive order since he took office, President Trump has banned the federal government's involvement in the chemical and genital mutilation of kids confused about their sex.

Stopping federal involvement in the irreversible mutilations was a key campaign promise. Two days ago he followed through.

American taxpayers will no longer subsidize the "barbaric" mutilations. Trump wants to give the victims of the fake medicine a private right to sue, and stop states from offering "sanctuary" to kids whose parents don't want them mutilated.

As well, the order ends the government's involvement with the discredited World Professional Association for Transgender Health (WPATH). That outfit is involved with sadomasochistic pornography that depicts castrating children and turning them into sex slaves.

National Stain

Nurses, doctors, and hospitals nationwide are "maiming and sterilizing a growing number of impressionable children" with "irreversible" surgeries and chemical intervention, Trump said. The "transgender" madness is a "stain on our Nation's history."

He said the kids subject to this egregious medical malpractice soon regret that they have been mutilated and begin to grasp the horrifying tragedy that they will never be able to conceive children of their own or nurture their children through breastfeeding.

As well, the victims are stuck with "lifelong medical complications" and the bills to pay for treatment.

Trump defined "chemical and surgical mutilation" as the use of puberty blockers, including GnRH agonists and other interventions, to delay the onset or progression of normally timed puberty in an individual who does not identify as his or her sex; the use of sex hormones, such as androgen blockers, estrogen, progesterone, or testosterone, to align an individual's physical appearance with an identity that differs from his or her sex; and surgical procedures that attempt to transform an individual's physical appearance to align with an identity that differs from his or her sex or that attempt to alter or remove an individual's sexual organs to minimize or destroy their natural biological functions. This phrase sometimes is referred to as "gender affirming care."

GnRH agonists are hormones that keep a child from going through the puberty associated with his real sex.

Trump ended "reliance on junk science" that suggests the mutilations are medically necessary.

WPATH, "which lacks scientific integrity," provided guidance regarding that to the government.

He banned agencies from relying on the disgraced outfit's "guidance," notably its "Standards of Care Version 8."

Role of HHS

The president also ordered the secretary of health and human services (HHS) — Robert F. Kennedy Jr., if confirmed by the U.S. Senate — to publish material on the best treatments for kids with gender dysphoria; i.e., those confused about their sex.

Perhaps most importantly, Trump ordered agency heads to ensure that institutions that receive federal funding end the mutilations. The HHS secretary must "take all appropriate actions to end the chemical and surgical mutilation of children, including regulatory and sub-regulatory actions."

The order rescinds the HHS documents that provide "guidance" for mutilations. It also bans the Defense Department's health insurance from providing coverage for them.

It also calls for federal legislation to enact a private right of action for children and the parents of children whose healthy body parts have been damaged by medical professionals practicing chemical and surgical mutilation, which should include a lengthy statute of limitations.

States that "facilitate stripping custody from parents" who don't want their kids mutilated could face trouble under the Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act.

A Trump-voting "transgender woman" posted on X a fact sheet about the order, which states:

These aggressive and experimental interventions, such as chemical castration and genital mutilation, are based on ideology and not founded on evidence-based medicine or science.

The fact sheet rightly calls the mutilations "barbaric."

Biden OK'd It

Tranny madness received a big boost from the Biden administration when President Joe Biden appointed a "transgender woman," "Rachel" Levine, to the No. 2 position in HHS.

Really named Richard, Levine zealously promoted the chemical castration and mutilation of kids. Even more radical than WPATH, he told the outfit to drop its age restrictions on the mutilations found in the standards of care that Trump has banned.

Levine is literally obsessed with chemical castration and genital mutilation. But that obsession is the link to WPATH. The Reduxx website reported in June:

The link between pedophilia advocacy, sexology, and trans activism can further be seen in how criteria put forward by WPATH, at Levine's behest, reflect the stated desires of a castration fetish forum, the members of which were found to have been working intimately with WPATH leaders in a series of Reduxx investigations.

The Eunuch Archive

The WPATH standards include a link to the deranged Eunuch Archive. Reduxx reported in July that the archive is a collection of "nearly 10,000 'erotic' stories of an extreme sadomasochistic nature," 3,000 of which involve children. As well,

In addition to hosting the fantasy material, a discussion forum exists to provide support and community to men who identify as "eunuchs," and seek to be or are already castrated.

Some contributors to the porn, Reduxx reported, have direct ties to WPATH. One of those contributors, a college professor, wrote a dystopian tale of the future "where the law allows any adult to 'sell himself or herself, or any parent to sell a child over the age of 10.'"

The narrator, a pedophile slave trader, "buys 'attractive' children from destitute mothers following the abolishment of government assistance. While employing heavily racist tropes, the narrator purchases the titular character, a 10-year-old Black child, from his impoverished mother."

"Not even halfway into the story, the 10-year-old child is put in chains and iron restraints before being castrated without anesthetic," the website reported.

Now, WPATH can no longer funnel its junk science to the federal government. And it no longer has the unfettered access its pervert associates had.

Of course, WPATH is "disappointed" that Trump cut off federal support for fetishized sexual mutilation.
