Instead, those proceedings have been secret. Like a star chamber.

Nor did the Pelosi posse give Republican committee members the right to issue subpoenas — a standard practice — thus ensuring that evidence contrary to the hate-Trump narrative is omitted or buried.

The Democrats also threatened members of the administration with obstruction of justice charges if they assert executive privilege in testimony or in withholding evidence, a longstanding practice. Even worse, the lynch mob threatened to withhold the salaries of those employees. That violates the employees' due-process rights.

Schiff's Role

Yet an even more salient fact is that Trump did nothing wrong in his phone call of July 25 with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky, whom he asked to investigate the Biden-Burisma scandal.

"You have resorted to such unprecedented and unconstitutional procedures because you know that a fair process would expose the lack of any basis for your inquiry" Cipollone wrote.

Trump's call was "completely appropriate," Cipollone wrote, as the transcript proved.

And Schiff's public reading of a fake version of the call proves that Trump did nothing wrong, Cipollone wrote. Otherwise, the hate-Trump congressman wouldn't have had to fake it.

As well, Schiff has a conflict of interest because he played a role in the now-famous whistleblower's hearsay complaint of August 12 that set off the latest impeachment hysteria. Schiff claimed that neither he nor his staff had contact with the whistleblower before the complaint was made. That was false; Schiff's staff members advised the individual.

Thus, Cipollone wrote, "anyone who was involved in the preparation or submission of the whistleblower's complaint cannot possibly act as a fair and impartial judge in the same matter — particularly after misleading the American people about his involvement."

Reverse 2016

Cipollone rightly concluded that Democrats are trying to reverse Clinton's loss in 2016 and stop a repeat Trump win in 2020.

Noting that Representative Al Green of Texas let that cat out of the bag in May — "if we don't impeach this president, he will get re-elected," he said — the attorney wrote that "the effort to impeach President Trump ... is a naked political strategy that began the day he was inaugurated, and perhaps even before."

In fact, the Left began talking impeachment before Trump won the Republican nomination.

But the Founders, Cipollone wrote, did not create the impeachment process to use against a president to stop his reelection. "The decision as to who will be elected President in 2020 should rest with the people of the United States, exactly where the Constitution places it."

The Democrats and their Deep State torpedoes do not agree.
