Wyoming is leading the way on cleaning up elections systems and pushing back on the “green” energy scam despite a liberal governor and massive leftwing infiltration of the Republican Party, explained Secretary of State Chuck Gray in this interview with The New American magazine’s Alex Newman on Conversations That Matter. The changes include requiring proof of citizenship to vote, cleaning up the voter rolls, and more.

Gray, a former legislator, warned that a “troika” of insider forces including the fake media are trying to stop these common-sense reforms. But even in the face of establishment pushback, the victories keep coming. The Wyoming Secretary of State also mentioned that he had just returned from a meeting at the White House as his counterparts in other states work with the White House to rein in these abuses and protect the integrity of elections.
