Georgia US Senate Candidate: UN, WEF, and WHO Are Stealing Our Sovereignty

At the Constitutional Sheriffs and Peace Officers Association (CSPOA) conference in Las Vegas, Nevada, Alex Newman, a senior editor for The New American, sat down with Reagan Box, who is running for U.S. Senate in Georgia.

When asked why she is running, Box responded, “No one talks about the issues that I think are important. There is the UN, the WHO, and the WEF all trying to write international law that will supersede our Constitution and our sovereignty as a nation, which will soon supersede our sovereignty as individuals. Why aren’t they [politicians] jumping up and screaming about that?”

Additionally, Newman inquired as to how Americans might take back their elections, and Box communicated that only a return to paper ballots, void of all machines equipped with software, can secure elections in the United States.
