Manufactured Food Crisis Coming, Warns John B. Wells

One of the major threats facing humanity and Americans in particular is a manufactured food crisis, warned popular radio host John B. Wells of Caravan to Midnight in this interview from the Red Pill Expo with The New American magazine's Alex Newman. Something fishy is also going on with the ongoing UFO "disclosures" by government and the lying media, warned Wells. But the most significant issue will be the fallout from the vaccine. Wells urges everyone to pay attention.
