

NSA Whistleblower Exposes Election Steal

In an interview with The New American's senior editor William F. Jasper, National Security Agency (NSA) whistleblower J. Kirk Wiebe discusses the massive tampering done via computer in the 2020 presidential election. He describes and explains the Deep State's criminal use of the CIA-developed Hammer and Scorecard programs, which many voices in the Fake News echo chamber claim don't exist. He also discusses the Dominion Voting Systems software and machines used in many states, and the abysmal state of security and integrity of our voting system, a point that many independent studies by nonpartisan experts have been warning about for years. Mr. Wiebe served in the NSA for decades and has been a key sentinel in many major national security crises and challenges. Together with the legendary Dr. William Binney and Ed Loomis, Mr. Wiebe left the NSA when they learned that programs they had helped develop to keep America safe from foreign enemies were being used illegally by the NSA to spy on virtually all Americans. The trio became whistleblowers to alert American elected officials and the American people that the federal alphabet spy agencies are out of control.
