David Webb has written one of the most talked about, terrifying books in red-pilled circles. David believes we are approaching a global financial collapse in which people will lose all their securities, thanks to a series of regulations implemented over the last three decades. He discusses in detail how and why this will happen, who’s behind it, why it will lead to complete economic serfdom, and how it can be stopped. This is an interview you cannot afford to miss.

@ 5:20 | Regulatory changes implemented over the last few decades paved the way for the great taking.

@ 22:15 | After the bust following the creation of the Federal Reserve, the international banksters put their competitors out of business, part of a “regime-shifting strategy.”

@ 26:05 | Webb addresses criticism and rebukes.

@ 52:40 | What can average people do to stop this from happening?
