Tech experts have dubbed artificial intelligence “the most disruptive force in human history.” The question is not whether AI will change how humans do life, but how it will do so. Dennis Behreandt is the publisher of The New American magazine and the author of End Game: COVID and the Dark State Quest for Bio-digital Convergence in a Transhumanist World. He and Sean Casper, TNA’s director of marketing growth, join Paul Dragu to discuss the benefits of AI, the dark side of AI — including the surveillance and tracking capabilities already being used by the Power Elite — and the big “unknowns”: Will AI become sentient? What will superintelligent AI do with mere mortals? And where do humans fit in a digital future?

@ 2:20 | The AI revolution is an intellectual one, as opposed to the force-based Industrial Revolution of the past.

@ 12:10 | What should we make of the warnings that AI will destroy humanity?

@ 18:10 | What AI means to the elites in regard to population dynamics in the U.S.

@ 23:25 | What is to be done with the “useless eaters” in the future?

@ 33:45 | AI superintelligence.
