U.S. Representative Thomas Massie (R-Ky.) shares his thoughts about President Trump's proposal to purchase beef from Argentina to, as President Trump told reporters, help lower the cost for consumers. And this comes after the White House announced it would provide a bailout to the South American country to the tune of $40 billion. Rep. Massie discusses the necessity to restore Country Of Origin Labels (COOL) for meat sold in the United States, getting out of the World Trade Organization (WTO), his proposed PRIME Act (H.R. 4700), and the Repeal the Smith-Mundt Modernization Act of 2013 (H.R. 5704). Other topics covered in the interview include Speaker Mike Johnson's attempt to delay a vote on Massie's discharge petition to release all of the Epstein files, and the continued government shutdown.
