Spanish Officials Transfer “Trans Woman” Murderer to Women’s Facility. Officials Know He’s a Fraud.

In another victory for sexual deviance and fetishism and another loss for women, yet another murderer who claims to be a woman has landed in the women’s wing of a prison.

And yet tranny Spaniard Miquel Toni Riera Prats doesn’t just claim he’s a woman. He’s also a lesbian.

Worst thing is, the authorities know the cross-dressing convict is a fraud. Yet they still went along with his pathetic masquerade.

The Murder

Prats is an especially evil man.

He’s serving 30 years for viciously murdering his grandmother’s neighbor, Reduux reported.

Prats was visiting his grandmother in 2015 for Christmas, and “a few days after arriving, he went out to a bar with his girlfriend, where he proceeded to get extremely intoxicated on both alcohol and cocaine,” the website explained:

At one point, his girlfriend returned back to her home, but Riera Prats went to another bar to consume even more alcohol and drugs.

When he returned to his grandmother’s residential block, he knocked on a neighbor’s door. The woman, Esperanza Ferrutxe, was a 45-year-old bank employee whom he had known since he was a child. Ferrutxe, who was in her pajamas, told Riera Prats that he reeked of alcohol and encouraged him to go back to his grandmother’s apartment. But rather than taking her advice, Riera Prats became violent, shoving the woman and punching her in the face.

When he saw his punch had drawn blood and apparently caused the woman to momentarily stop breathing, Riera Prats dragged the woman further into her house. Despite his later claims that he had “no intention” of killing Ferrutxe, Riera Prats proceeded to strangle her before setting her flat on fire in an effort to destroy evidence of the crime.

Authorities found the woman’s burned body under a box spring.

Of course, the murderer claimed he “got nervous” because his victim yelled at him, which in turn, triggered his drug- and alcohol-fueled rampage, the website explained. In fact, as the murderer later confessed, he wanted to rob the woman of money and jewelry. When she resisted, he murdered her then burned her corpse.

Along with a 36-year sentence that was reduced to 30, the website reported, he was fined about $50,000 he must pay to each of the woman's brothers.

I'm Really a Woman

But Prats found a way to escape three decades behind bars with other men.

After Spain enacted its ridiculous tranny law last year, he suddenly discovered that he was, lo and behold, a lady. A member of the fairer sex. Or, as the Spaniards say, a señora.

The tranny law "significantly eased the requirements for a legal name and sex marker change, allowing anyone over the age of 16 to self-declare their gender and receive extensive protection from the Government on the basis of their identity," the website noted. Men who pretend to be women needn't take hormones, undergo orchiectomies or penectomies, or even masquerade as a woman to benefit from the law.

That said, Prats "reportedly began hormone treatment last summer, and the prison administration has now approved his transfer to the female wing."

Not so fast, some prison officials say, the website reported:

This decision has generated controversy amongst prison officials, many of whom have said they consider Riera Prats' alleged "sex change" to be a "fraud." The prison administration appears to have denied Riera Prats' request for a change of facility a few times, but finally conceded in April, according to Última Hora.

The murderer, who has now grown his hair out, has decided to keep his male name, and has told prison officials that he identifies as a female lesbian.

Hilariously, Prats's wife visits him in prison. Whether the visits are conjugal, Reduxx didn't say. But maybe he really is a lesbian.

Warning Ignored

Women's-rights activists rightly predicted what would happen before the tranny law passed. Men would fake being women to go to women's facilities.

Indeed, "in Catalonia, one feminist group noted that thousands of men have had their sentences reduced due to the law by declaring they were 'women' in the courtroom," the website continued:

Despite the problems the law has caused, it has been repeatedly defended by the current Minister for Equality, Ana Redondo.

On X, Feministes de Catalunya wrote: "Miquel Toni Riera murdered Esperanza Ferrutxe, 45, on December 23, 2015. He strangled her, covered her body with a box spring and set fire to her house to erase his tracks. Today he is another of the 5,200 'people' that, according to @anaredondo, feel better thanks to the #TransLaw."

Danger to Women Inmates

Officials know but don't care that so-called trans women are an extreme peril for women inmates.

As The New American reported last month, citing Reduxx, an one such inmate in California, Tremaine “Tremayne” Deon Carroll, raped a woman in January, officials allege.

Carroll has a long history of sexual assault and violent crime and is serving a 25-year to life sentence.

Yet in 2021 when he falsely declared he was a woman, officials jumped at the chance to accommodate his demand to be moved to a woman’s facility.

Now, he is back in a men’s facility where he belongs ... too late, of course, for the woman he is accused of raping.

In 2021, the Women’s Liberation Front sued the state on behalf of four women to stop the transfers. A third of the “trans women” who want to be housed with women are sex offenders, ReduXX reported in its story about the lawsuit. In 2021, WoLF reported that “trans women” were impregnating women inmates.

And not surprisingly, 48 percent of “trans women” are sex offenders.
